SHERIFF EDWARD N. BONNER RELEASES THE FOLLOWING:

Correctional Sgt. Rabinder Sandhu

Sheriff Ed Bonner is proud to announce the promotion of Rabinder Sandhu to the rank of Correctional Sergeant.

Effective Saturday, June 25, Sgt. Sandhu assumes his new position in the Placer County Jail. Sandhu, 34, has been a correctional officer in the jail for the past nine years. For the past four years, he has worked as a classification officer, which determines where each inmate is housed and who gets released when the jail is full.

Throughout his jail career, Sgt. Sandhu has served as a defensive tactics instructor, a jail training officer and as a member of the gang unit.

Sandhu lives in Rocklin with his wife and eight-month-old son. He grew up in India and moved to the U.S. at the age of 18. After working as a security officer in Fresno County, he decided to pursue a career in law enforcement. He moved to Placer County and immediately applied to work in the jail, where he has worked ever since.

"Rabinder has shown strong leadership and decision-making skills in the important position of classification officer," said Sheriff Ed Bonner. "He will make a fine sergeant."
